

Mozilla Firefox

Fill in passwords automatically.

By default, Mozilla Firefox is set up to remember passwords automatically if you would like it to do so. When you first type a password into a web form, you will be asked if you would like Internet Explorer to remember the password. If you would like the password to be remembered, simply click Remember.

If you are not asked whether you would like the password to be remembered, you need to turn on the AutoComplete feature.

To turn on the AutoComplete feature

1. In Mozilla Firefox, click the Tools button.

2. Then click Options.
3. Select Security and then Remember passwords for this site and then OK.
